BROOKLYN HIGH SCHOOL

VOLUME 39

School, Community Grow Hand-in-Hand

By 1924, Brooklyn Village Schools had grown from several one rooms to a centralized school. In 1930 a high school faculty was added with additional classrooms, a library and a gymnasium being added in 1939.

In the summer of 1946 the school was again busy with growing pains due to the post-war baby boom. A new cafeteria, dining room and three new classrooms were built onto the northwest corner of the building. As the population was outgrowing the Brooklyn Acres, housing in the city began to expand especially around the school.

In that same year, soil was broken for BHS's own athletic field. Although the field was not ready for competitive use in the 1946-47 school year, the school, which had produced a county champion track team the year before with only surrounding streets for practice, made the new track available to its boys for practice use.

The main office area and classrooms upstairs and downstairs as far as the language lab were added by 1958 with the West Gym being finished in 1959. The English wing was added in 1960. Construction of the vocational wing, the school's last expansion, was completed by September of 1971.

The Westbrook Apartments were completed in the late 60's while 23 homes remain to be built in Brooklyn's newest housing development on Elizabeth Lane.

Addressing Brooklyn graduates has become a tradition for the mayor.

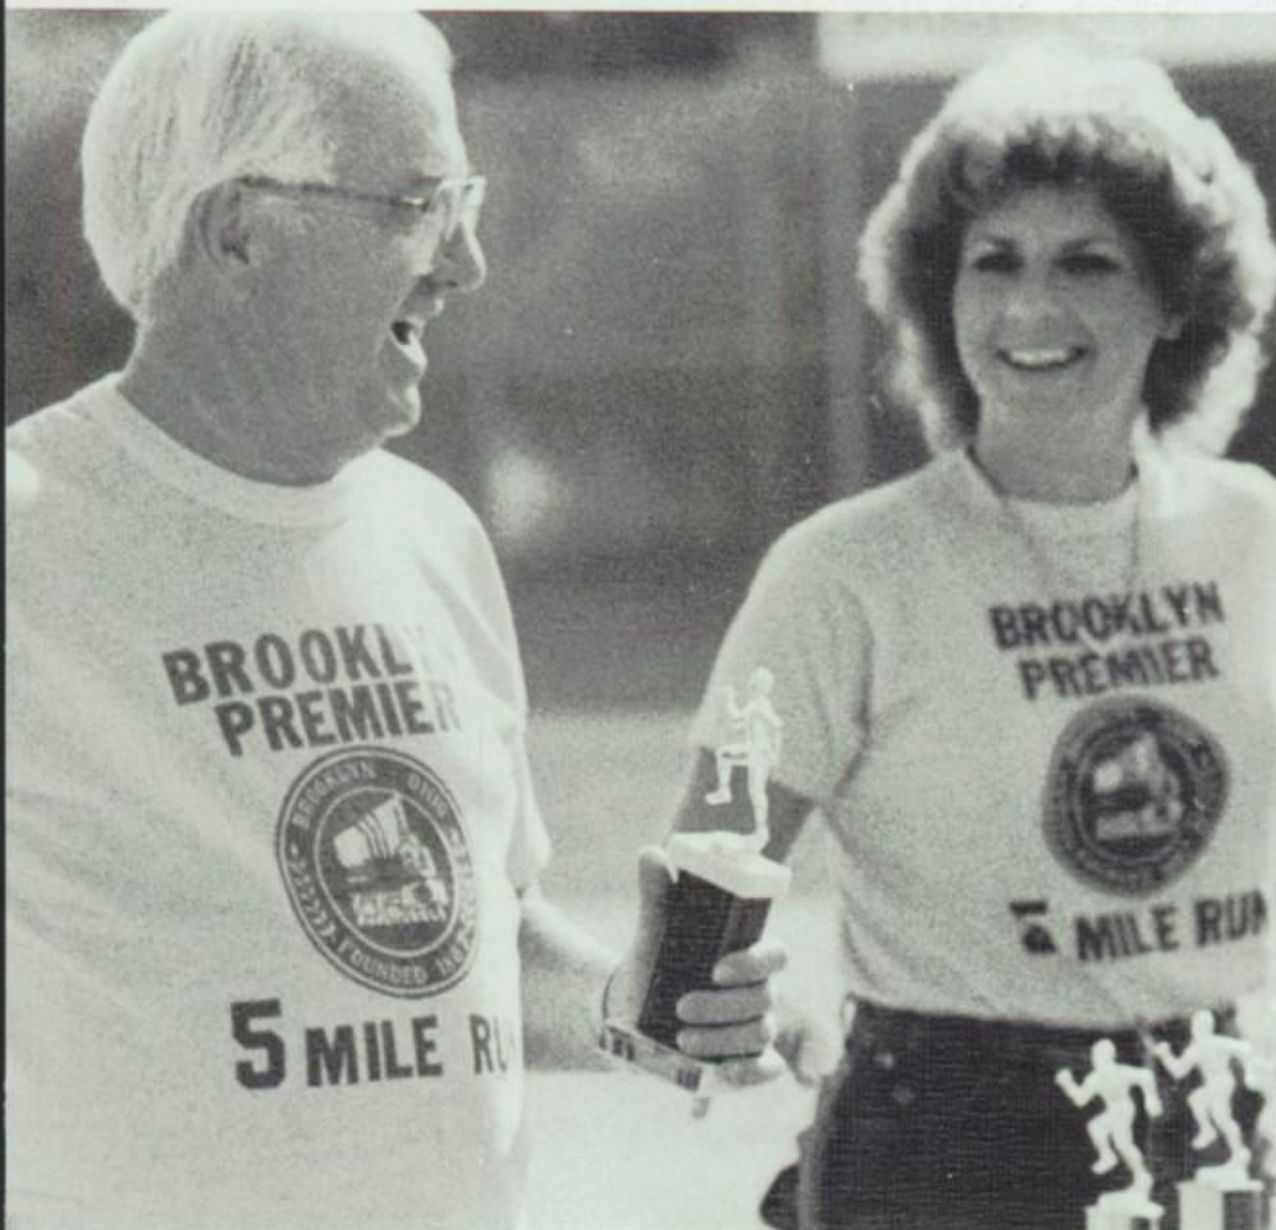

One Man's Dedication

John M. Coyne, a 1935 graduate of BHS, has spent half his lifetime working for the people of the City of Brooklyn. First elected village treasurer in 1939, Mr. Coyne ran and was elected mayor eight years later. It is a position he has held ever since.

In his tenure, the city has gained the respect and admiration of neighboring communities for its excellent city services and low tax base. Through the mayor's careful planning, the city boasts an ample Recreation Center, a newly-renovated Historical Society and new senior citizens complex, all built at no additional cost to the taxpayer. The dirt-free streets, well-groomed and well-staffed city departments have attracted large corporations, businesses and families to Brooklyn. Together the community and school system have worked to establish an ideal place to live for young and old alike.

For his continuous love and desire to do the best for the people of Brooklyn, the 1983 Eaglet is dedicated to Mayor John M. Coyne. May the outstanding example he has set continue to demonstrate to future graduates of his alma mater that no goal in life is impossible to achieve.

What Will Tomorrow Bring?

The future of Brooklyn City Schools lies in the hands of many people from the local administrative level to current and future members of the student body.

Unemployment, taxes, levies, business and population growth — all will contribute to the financial ability of the system to stay alive. Once the school and community have found the financial means to keep the doors open, programs must be expanded and updated to train prospective students for the world of the computer and space travel.

If wise and prudent decisions are made beginning today, there is every possibility that there most definitely will be a Class of 2033.

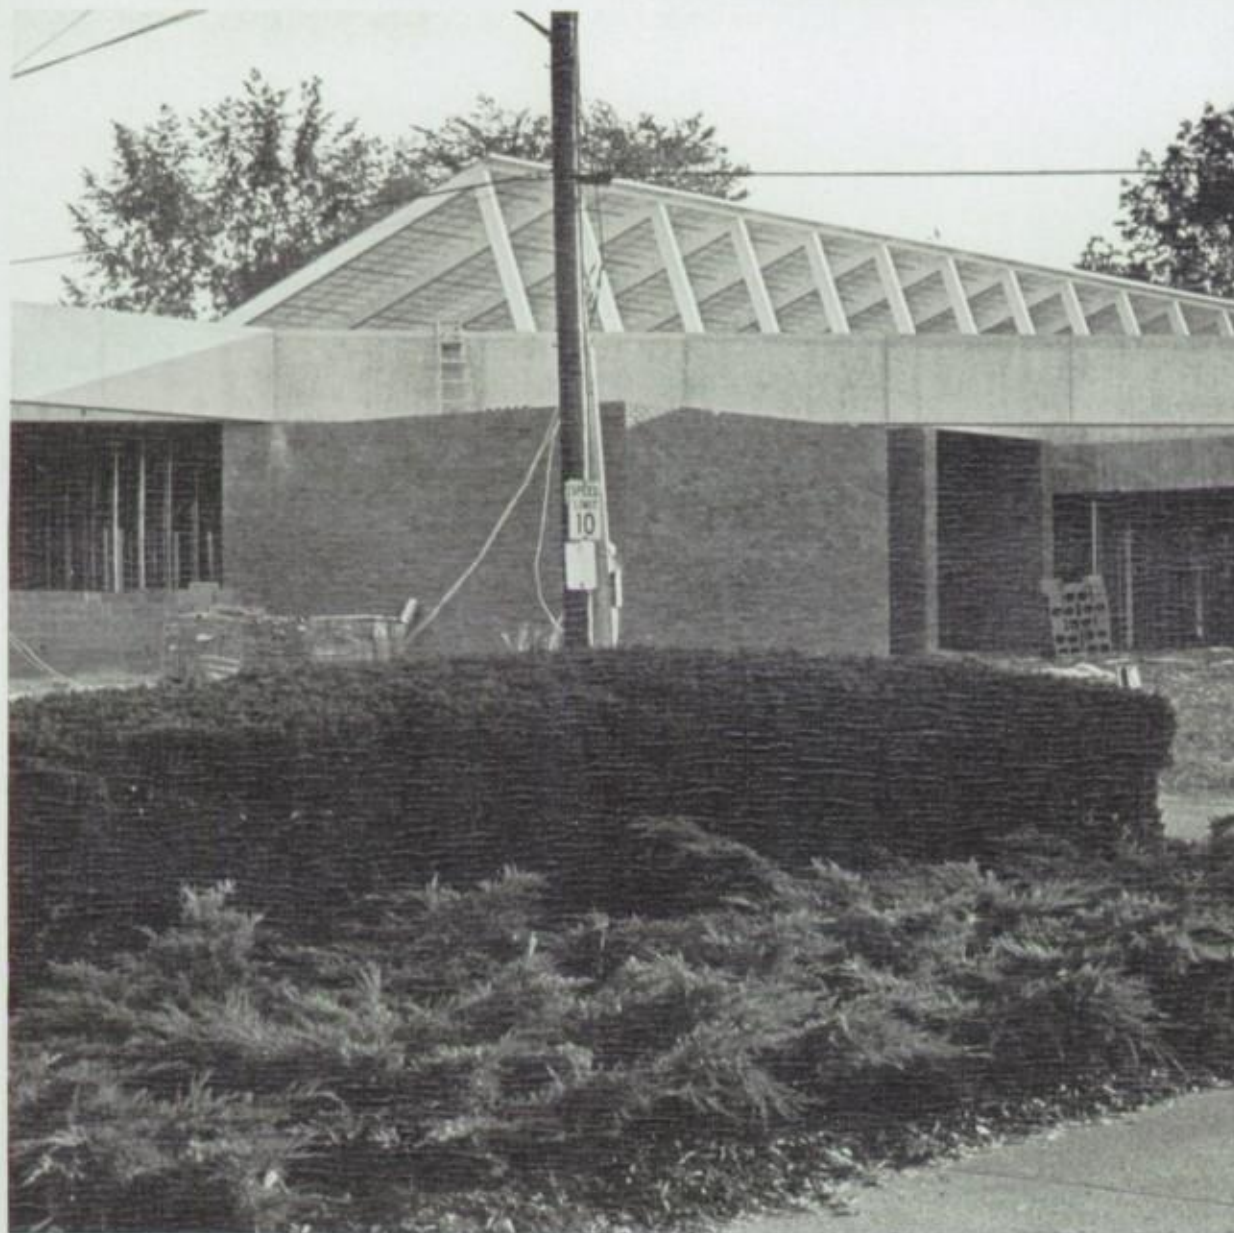

Music parents support the endeavors of Brooklyn vocal and instrumental students.

The Underrated Underclassmen

What consists of 120 strong, wild, sex-crazed and just all-around strange people? The poorly treated "underclassmen."

Since this is the last year that the 8th grade will be all alone in the dreaded East Wing, members of the Class of '87 feel that for the remainder of the year they should get all the privileges that grades 9 and 10 get!

These "peons" say that they are tired of hearing, "Hey, Clyde, look at them little underclassmen!" everytime they walk down the hall.

On the lighter side, about 90% of the "underclass" enjoyed their trip to Washington in late April.

Unlike previous years the class shows a lot of enthusiasm in athletics. We have quite a few good athletes and we know the future varsity team WILL be better.

To all upperclassmen — heed this advice. The next time you see an 8th grader, be nice. You were one, once, too!

Class officers for the 8th graders are Paula Matysiak, Sue Loeri, Tanya Hayes and Lyn Friedl.

The Rough, the Innocent ... the In-Betweens

For freshmen, being 15 is really tough these days. Although we have higher rank than the 8th graders, we're still at the "bottom of the ladder" since this is actually our first challenging year of high school.

The majority of a freshman's classes are required — gym/health, English, math and science. Among the electives a ninth grader can select are: German or Spanish, band, chorus, industrial arts and home economics.

The fact we still have to wait another year until we turn 16 so we can drive is the "pits." Since we have no car, we can't go cruising which leads to the fact that freshmen have nothing to be accused of — like getting home late or causing trouble. We are mostly ... er, totally innocent.

When the times does arrive for the freshman class to graduate, it will be the second greatest miracle since Moses parted the Red Sea. When we leave, we'll be leaving lots of memories to Brooklyn High and for the Class of '86 to treasure.

The Sophomore's Dream

Everybody has individual dreams. Even so, "The Sophomore's Dream" seems to be one of the biggest steps in a teenager's life.

Every 15-year-old sophomore dreams of becoming the magical age of "sixteen." Why? For two reasons: the privilege of being able to actually "drive a car" AND being able to finally work. Considering that there really isn't too much to do in Brooklyn, a car is necessary for going on a date, and money is needed for that.

Even though driving a car or dating isn't really all that it's built up to be (due to lack of privileges), for years to come it will always remain "The Sophomore's Dream."

The "Next Year" Group

The Class of 1984, otherwise known as the "deadheads," are a unique part of Brooklyn High School. Nobody knows the trouble that would arise. Could it be we are saving our best for the last year? Or maybe is it that the Class of '84 will change the reputation of BHS? Who knows?

What we do know is that many juniors are active in sports, clubs and working after school — yes, juniors do work! With all these activities plus homework, what else is there to be but "deadheads?"

The name "Next Year Group" came about when members of the class were asked why we are so boring. All remarked, "Wait 'till next year!"

The Professionals

Since the turn of the 20th century the teaching profession has witnessed many needed changes. In 1872 school board contracts often stated that any teacher who smokes, uses liquor ... frequents pool or public halls or gets shaved in a barber shop would lend good reason to suspect his worth, intention ... and honesty. Furthermore, women teachers who married would be dismissed.

Thirty years ago a beginning teacher at Brooklyn received $2400. Today, that figure is $13,700. Unwritten dress codes existed for teachers at BHS through the early 70's when female staff members donned slacks on a regular basis.

Even though a teacher's situation has improved drastically with the passage of time and, even though teachers today lead nearly normal lives, today's educators face even tougher problems brought about by a rapidly-changing society than did their predecessors.

The Helping Hands

The various staff members designated as special services aid the administrative and teaching staffs in performing their day-to-day activities.

In the high school, the secretaries fill supply requisitions, distribute forms, aid in taking attendance and keep teacher records accurate. The school nurse and health aide provide the necessary first aid treatment during the day as well as keep immunization and sports records up-to-date. The speech therapist and C.A.R.E. director provide guidance and help to students not only in the high school but the two elementaries as well. The reading specialist and two L.D. teachers provide that special touch to Brooklyn students needing extra help.

The business office staff insures there is enough money to provide all the above educational services as well as pay the teaching and administrative staffs. At the board office the three secretaries answer the phones and aid the superintendent in any way they can.

Trying to sink one for the teachers is Mr. Hillier.

High School secretaries include Mrs. June Slepecky, Mrs. Phyllis Swann and Mrs. Marie DeMarco.

Mr. Szudy introduces a speaker at the annual Academic Banquet.

The Decision Makers

Making the decisions that will affect the education of all students are Brooklyn's superintendent, Board of Education and high school administrative staff.

Mr. William Hall, a BHS graduate himself, is serving his fourth year as principal after having worked as assistant principal, teacher and coach. Assisting him with student activities and discipline in grades 8 and 9 is Mr. Joe Garn. Also serving as assistant principal and disciplinarian for grades 10-12 is Mr. Louis Syrone. Mr. Henry Joy coordinates the athletic program while Mr. Dale Nicklas keeps the vocational wing running smoothly.

Since the school's beginnings, there have been five superintendents, the first being Clarence L. Rice. For a number of years, there were two high school principals, one for the East Wing and a second for grades 9-12.

Onward to Victory

Football is the second oldest sport at Brooklyn. The first football team took the field in 1940. In 1979 the Hurricanes won the last Cuyahoga Conference crown before being realigned into the inland Conference. In 1980 the Hurricanes posted their best record, 10-0, advancing to the playoffs against Avon. That same year current head coach Jerry Younger was named Coach-of-the-Year in Northeast Ohio.

This year the team was 6-3 placing third in the Eastern Division conference race. Leading the 'Canes were co-captains John Szabo and Guy Dickey. Linebacker Szabo was named to the 1st Team while Vince Mastri and Pat Flinn received honorable mention honors.

The gridders received another honor as Szabo, Mastri and Jeff Kriausky received Plain Dealer All-Scholastic honorable mentions. Junior Ray Colonna was chosen first team offensive end while Szabo was voted first team offensive guard. Also selected for the first team was Kriausky. Rob Strodbeck, Flinn, Dickey and Dave Browning received honorable mentions.

School Spirit Lifted

Cheering the football team onward to victory every week were the varsity cheerleaders. Like their male counterparts, practice sessions for the seven girls began in the summer while practices were held after school.

Providing spirited music from 7:25 to 7:45 every Friday during football season was the pep band and Hurricettes. Both groups joined the cheerleaders in entertaining and psyching up the team and its supporters at the several pep rallies held during the school day.

One of the main activities of the Pep Club is the formal. This tradition was started by the Girls Athletic Association (GAA), passed down to the Girls' Club and eventually was picked up by the Pep Club. Weekly the club makes locker decorations for all JV and varsity sports. Members can also be seen at the games enthusiastically cheering the athletes to a victory.

Screaming their lungs out are cheerleaders Janice Dolinak, Mary Ann Mastri, Lisa Murphey and Dee Hites.

The Beat Goes On

The first marching band appeared in 1947. Consisting of 25 members and four majorettes, the band performed under the direction of Mr. John Phillips. Mr. Phillips, who also served the Brooklyn Schools as music supervisor, is responsible for the lyrics to Brooklyn's Alma Mater. The last year the band consisted of 96 members was 1981.

This year the band marched 80 members under the baton of Mr. Ken Konicek. The band performed the traditional "Mickey Mouse" show while the "Charleston," "Yankee Doodle," "Yellow Submarine" numbers and the B formation were the new crowd pleasers of the season.

A Royal Week

Homecoming Week 1982 combined both traditional and new activities. The bonfire, which had ceased in 1977, was brought back again due to the efforts of Pep Club. 24 girls were nominated by various school clubs and organizations and introduced to the entire student body who voted for the five finalists. From the five, Lisa Carrara was chosen queen. Her sister, Sue was elected queen in 1978. Following a 3rd period coronation assembly, a reception for the entire senior class was held in the old senior lounge.

Brooklyn's first Homecoming Queen (1948) was freshman Mary Ann Shifflett. Twenty-five years later, her daughter, Linda Perdue, was chosen for the same honor. Candidates were originally selected and voted upon by the football team. In 1971 nominations were opened up to the school with the football team selecting the five finalists. In 1976 students in grades 9-12 were allowed to select the five finalists and queen. Seventh and 8th graders were included in the election process in 1978.

The reception, originally attended by the football team, cheerleaders and court, was opened to all seniors in 1979. With the remodeling of the stadium in 1980 the traditional ride around the track by the Homecoming Court was abandoned. This year, however, the platform for the court was replaced onto the track itself following an absence of two years.

Top picture: Homecoming candidates and their escorts included Mark Hopp and Edith Kinsch, Bill Samijlenko and Sue Lada, Ruth Offenbacher and John Szabo, Kathy Kudravy and Pat Flinn, Dawn Cipriani and Randy Dempsey.

Seven additional nominees and escorts for Homecoming Queen were Paula Archacki and Dave Thompson, Lisa Barkas and Chris Carson, Stephanie Bess and Dave Zivkovic, Diane Stefanik and Tom Varga, Lisa Soeder and Ken Friedl, Linda Eichman and George Jacomin, Lisa Vannello and Guy Dickey.

The final group of candidates and escorts included Barb Brewer and Wally Samijlenko, Lydia Perez and Stefan Feitt, Chris Hinz and Ken Vik, Kim Kelber and Benny DelBrocco, Denise Bessick and Jim Graziolli, Becky Stuczynski and Al Miranda, Cindy Platten and Stan Roginsky.

An Ongoing Tradition

The Brooklyn tradition of the stadium.

Homecoming began in 1948 with the crowning of its first queen at halftime. Through the years, floats, pep rallies, parades and bonfires have helped mark the festive occasion. In 1959 the junior high celebrated its own Homecoming. In 1966 the crowning of the queen became an inside event at an in-school pep rally on game day. This tradition still prevails.

Among the newest additions to this fall's festivities were a car decorating contest and a parade to

The antique cars and convertibles once used by the Homecoming Court to get to the stadium were replaced by a luxury van courtesy of Don's Brooklyn Chevrolet.

Culminating the week's activities was the traditional Homecoming football game. Despite the warm weather and the high spirits of the fans, the team lost a hard-fought contest against the Blue Devils of Independence, 6-7.

Golf, the second youngest inter-scholastic sport, was first organized in 1968. The 1977 team, with a 7-4 win/loss record, gave Coach Jack Hillier his 100th victory. In 1979, the team won its second straight Cuyahoga Conference championship. The team also placed 4th in sectional play and 10th in the district. Five individuals were chosen All-Conference and eight new team and individual records were broken or tied in that year.

The 1981 golf team won its sole victory of the season against Independence. Low scorers in that match were Larry Hartman and David Malik with identical scores of 43. Hartman and Rick Loy received honorable mention honors in the Inland Conference tournament held at the Spring Valley Country Club in late September.

The JV squad welcomed its first female players, Sherrill Meder and Traci Lemley. Darren Kebbel had the lowest round of the season with a 51. The team's best score was 227 against Independence's 229.

A 'Killing' Season

Girls' volleyball was first organized in 1975. By 1979 the team had won three Cuyahoga Conference crowns. The 1980 team changed coaches as elementary physical education teacher Mr. Joseph Blaha stepped in to take the reigns. That year the team took the Inland Conference crown, were sectional champs and district runner-ups.

Three girls shared the honor of captain for the 1982 squad: Deanna Broz, Donna Ratliff and Cheryl Haschak. Deanna led the season with a 92% serving accuracy percentage and 108 kills. Haschak led her teammates with a total of 127 points scored. For her work, Broz was named to the 1st Team All-Conference and received an honorable mention to the Sun News team. Junior Vickie Erhardt was named to the 2nd All-Conference Team. Receiving honorable mention to the All-Conference team were Ratliff, Haschak and junior Cathy Hartman.

The JV squad, co-captained by Lisa Murphey and Cheryl Karkosiak, posted a 10-7 season.

Freaky Friday

For the third consecutive year Student Council sponsored a Halloween Costume contest. Each homeroom selected their best candidate. Those nominated reported to the library where a panel of judges decided whose costume was the best.

Halloween actually fell on a Sunday this year. The Tylenol scare in Chicago carried over to possible danger with Halloween candies. That, along with the sleet rain, kept the number of trick-n-treaters to a minimum.

Boys' Squad Grounded

Formed in 1939, boys' basketball is the oldest sport at Brooklyn. Since then the various teams have won at least one title in each of the three divisions in which they have played.

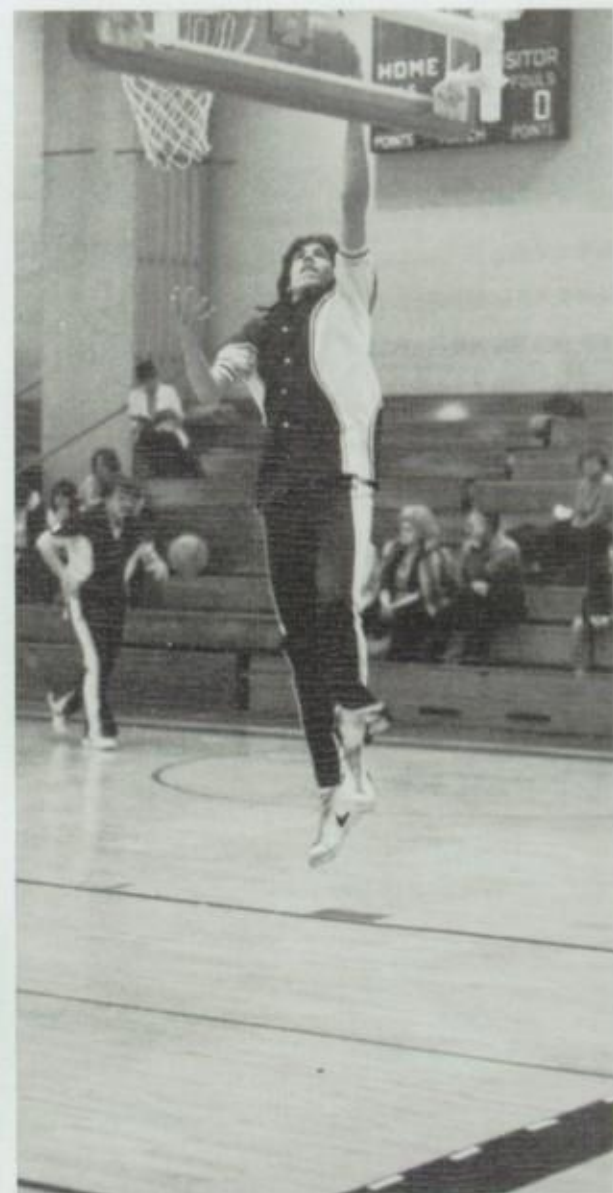

The 1958 squad's record of 11-5 put them in a second place tie in the West County League. In 1973, the team was sectional champs in the Cuyahoga Conference while the 1980 team won the first Eastern divisional title in the newly-formed Inland Conference. In the championship game, the Hurricane's lost to Firelands, 64-47.

The 1983 squad posted their sole victory of the season against Keystone, 78-49. Three sophomores were brought up from the JV squad to play varsity: Steve Turchyn, Steve Spiwak and Kurt Gutwein. Although the team generally had more rebounds and fewer turnovers than their opponents, their shooting accuracy kept them grounded.

A bright spot of the season, however, were the 8th and 9th grade teams. The 8th graders were undefeated in conference play and took 2nd place at the Rocky River tournament. The freshman team posted a 10-6 season mark and finished in 3rd place at the Avon High School Invitational.

Female Cagers Sink It!

Like the other female sports teams, girls' basketball officially began in 1975 within the Cuyahoga Conference. The team's predecessor was the traditional Yale-Harvard game played by the best junior and senior girls who were selected following strenuous tryouts.

The highlight of this year's Inland Conference play was the girls' 53-46 victory over arch-rival Lutheran West. Led by Paula Hemann's 16 points and Diane Wohlgemuth's 14 points, the girls handed the Longhorns their first league loss this season and their second league loss in the last four years.

Two juniors broke school records during the varsity's 15-5 cage season. Donna Sullivan's 26 points against Keystone set a new high for points scored in one game while Paula Kirlough's total of 59 assists broke the previous record of 57. Sullivan was named to the Plain Dealer Dream Team while Kirlough and Wohlgemuth were awarded honorable mention honors.

Leading the JV squad in their 11-6 season were Laura Herman and Sandy Wohlgemuth who averaged 9 points per game. The freshman squad also performed well this season posting a 9-5 record.

Grapplers Win Title; Friedl State Champ

A team dominated mostly by seniors proved that experience does pay as the varsity wrestlers worked their way to the Inland Conference crown. Scoring first places at the Cuyahoga Hts. Inland tournament were Kevin Ellis, Kevin Friedl, Ken Friedl, Ron Herman, Steve Seidenwand, John Beningo and Jim Baker. In so doing, the seven grapplers set a new school record for the number of individual champions at a conference tournament. Second place winners included Ron Friedl, Mike Toth and Rob Strodbeck.

Senior Jim Baker set another school record at the Medina tournament over Christmas break by pinning his opponent in seven seconds. He was honored by the Plain Dealer twice; first as one of their weekly Dream Teamers and secondly, copping the number three position in the heavyweight division in the PD's Top Area wrestlers. Kevin Friedl was ranked number seven in the 119-pound division.

Kevin went on to capture the school's first male state championship in Columbus. Twin brother Ken finished 3rd in the state finals.

Loosening up before his match is Ron Herman.

Icemen Cometh of Age

The newest sport at Brooklyn to be played on the inter-scholastic level is hockey. In the last five years, the team has undergone four coaching changes. Interest in the sport has increased as the team has gradually improved from its first season record of 0-19.

Three of the skater's better games were against Lakewood, Olmsted Falls and Garfield. In the 10-4 victory over the Lakewood Rangers, goalie Chris Snow turned back 32 shots while Lenny Obremski, Pete Ridilla, Keith Habusta and Loren Girardi scored goals. In the 15-1 win against Olmsted Falls, Obremski scored a double hat-trick (6 goals) with Troy Grahl and Habusta adding three goals and Girardi, Bob Eggers and Rob Kristanko scoring one apiece. The game was called at the end of the second quarter because of a 10-goal difference. Scoring their first shutout in the last three years, Hurricane's goalie John Kasmerski kept a total of 24 Garfield shots from going in the net.

Obremski's season total of 36 goals and 22 assists makes him the all-time leading scorer in Brooklyn hockey history. Named to the Hockey All-Stars team was Obremski, 1st Team offense; Pete Ridilla and Vince LoCastro, honorable mention defense; and Troy Grahl, honorable mention offense.

Think Snow!

Ski Club has been well received by Brooklyn students since its beginnings 12 years ago. Although prospective members sign up before there is any sign of winter, their thoughts change to skiing with the first snowfall that hits the ground around Thanksgiving.

This year the club's 60 members had to work a little harder to get the weatherman to cooperate as Old Man Winter was kinder to Ohioans than in previous winters. Nevertheless, snow machines, along with an occasional 1 to 2 inches of snow, helped to provide some good skiing from January to the end of February. For the first time, prospective skiers wanting to challenge the advanced hill, Champagne, had to qualify by passing a test given by Brandywine Ski Center, the site used by BHS throughout the club's existence.

Beginning lessons, lift tickets, as well as information on the correct style of boot and skis were part of services available to Brooklynites who discovered that just about anyone can enjoy this outdoor sport.

"Hope you didn't have the annual camera when you fell, Sandy!"

Students Spread Holiday Cheer

For the third consecutive year, Brooklyn students participated in a full week-and-a-half of activities organized by Student Council to celebrate Christmas.

Winning the tree decorating contest was the Class of 1985 whose members utilized construction paper for their hand-made ornaments as well as garlands of popcorn. Their tree, along with the other four class trees, were used for the Pep Club's Christmas Formal and were donated to needy families at the beginning of Christmas break.

The door decorating contest produced some clever entries. Among them was the senior auto mechanics class who turned their door into a fireplace so real its warmth was enjoyed by many BHS students and faculty alike. Several needy families in Brooklyn were able to enjoy the warm generosity of Brooklynites who donated a record number of canned goods and non-perishables the week before Christmas week.

Pictures with Santa Claus (was it really Mr. Carroll?), caroling in the halls, lunchtime entertainment by the band and chorus also highlighted the week's events. Closing out the week was the all-school party from 1-3 p. m. on Friday, Dec. 17.

International Dateline

Working to make BHS students aware of other cultures are the two Language clubs and Foreign Language Honorary.

Among Spanish Club's activities this year were excursions to Tequila Junction and the newly-built Chi Chi's Mexican restaurants. The group also provided treats for the Spanish American Day Care Center and made three quilts for a Brazilian orphanage. The Hoffbraus House, Christmas caroling and skiing were the main activities of German Club which came into existence in 1972.

Foreign Language Honorary is the youngest of the four honoraries at Brooklyn. Recognizing outstanding academic achievement in one of the languages offered at BHS, the honorary has initiated 80 students since 1977. Applicants must hold a 3.25 average in language and a 2.75 in their study of one language.

Together the three groups join all foreign language students in celebrating this year's 11th International week. The Language Olympics, the international smorgasbord and FLH inductions highlight the week's activities.

Preparing for The World of Work

DECA, OEA and VICA were first formed in the 1968-69 school year. All three are an extension of a related vocational program whose members participate in local and state competitions.

DE's biggest undertaking this year was the operation of the "Scene," a gift shop operating out of Room 136. Opened two weeks prior to Christmas, BHS students and faculty were able to buy donuts, coffee and orange juice prior to school as well as gifts for kids to adults. Other money-making projects included the making of buttons for any occasion and the sale of carnations for Valentine's Day. Students also visited the two elementaries at Halloween and Christmas distributing candy.

OEA originally was called the Business Education Office Club. Currently, there is a junior and senior club with separate officers although there is only one activity account. The senior girls sell mums at Homecoming and send original Christmas greetings to each faculty member. Both groups eagerly await the annual OEA convention in Columbus held in early spring.

Each junior and senior vocational class has its own treasury and officers with one representative from each class serving on the VICA steering committee under the supervision of vocational director Mr. Dale Nicklas. The cosmetology Hair-a-Thon and the Fruit Sale are just two of the fund-raising events sponsored by VICA.

Making the Grade

Of the four honoraries at BHS, National Honor Society is the oldest. Brooklyn's chapter is named for a well-liked and dedicated English teacher who died during her tenure with the school system, Georgina Skinner. Inductions, once held at an all-school assembly, are now held during the school day. Official tapping of new members takes place at a morning breakfast. Since its inception in the early 40's, approximately 600 Brooklynites have been recognized for their achievements in the areas of character, scholarship, leadership and service.

Mu Alpha Theta and English Honorary have shared a joint induction ceremony for the last seven years. Both groups' requirements include specific point averages in math/English as well as in the overall accum.

English Honorary members run the student bookstore and take several field trips to local theaters during the school year. Mu Alpha Theta members serve as tutors in math and help as computer aides.

“Any Number Can Die”

On a lonely island in the middle of the Atlantic, a group of people gather to hear a will at midnight. Suddenly, a storm blows up and they are stranded. Then, someone starts murdering the heirs ... and “Any Number Can Die.”

The first play to be staged in the new auditorium was the one-act play “The Little Red Schoolhouse.” The audience for the freshman class selection was the PTA. Starring in the cast was the then unknown Dave Birney.

Over the past 30 years, the Brooklyn High stage has been used for assemblies as well as the presentation of dramatic productions. In the 50's Elvis Presley and the Four Lads graced the floor. Such classics as “Oklahoma,” “Dracula,” “The Odd Couple,” “Charlie Brown,” “The Time Machine,” “Bye, Bye Birdie,” “Two Gentlemen of Verona,” “Oliver,” and “The Fantasticks” have entertained many children and adults alike.

Roger Masters reads Cedric Russel's will at midnight.

Celia threatens to take Sally to court.

Break A Leg!

Staging a dramatic production involves many people. While the members of Drama Club help select and stage the presentation, the needed scenery, lighting, props and special effects are provided by members of the stage, sound and lighting crew. The stage crew also works any assembly or other activity taking place in the school auditorium.

Thespian troupe 1477 recognizes outstanding contributions by all three groups on school and community productions. Students gain credit points by participating in all areas of dramatics.

The name of the organization was chosen in honor of Thespis, the first performer in ancient Greek theater, who stepped away from the conventional chorus and delivered solo speeches with movement, thereby becoming the world's first known actor.

'Birdie Fever' Hits BHS

On March 19, 20 and 21 the Brooklyn Drama and Music Departments turned back the pages of time to the 1950's with their presentation of the musical Bye, Bye Birdie. A cast of 64 members and a 25-member orchestra practiced from early January to polish the 20 musical numbers and six major dance scenes.

The story line evolved around soon-to-be-drafted rock star Conrad Birdie (Tom Varga), and a publicity event planned by his manager Albert Peterson (Nick Vannello) and Albert's secretary (Vicky Kakacheff) to promote Birdie's latest, and perhaps last, song One Last Kiss. One of the female members of Conrad's many fan clubs, Kim MacAfee (Suzanne Armstrong) is chosen at random to receive Birdie's last kiss. The entire event is to be televised nationally on the Ed Sullivan Show.

Birdie's arrival at Sweet Apple lends itself to perhaps the funniest scene as the town mayor (Billy Samijlenko) presents the key to the city to Birdie while his wife (Vivian Bentz) faints as does the entire cast of females on stage.

Among the memorable musical numbers were Telephone Hour, Put On A Happy Face, One Boy, and A Lot of Livin' To Do. Who could forget those strains of "We Love You, Conrad" that were heard not only during the play's three-day run but for the many weeks to follow.

The entire cast of Bye, Bye Birdie poses in front of the Sweet Apple Railroad Depot.

After getting looped, Hugo Peabody (Marty Pavelka) finds himself stuck in a very unusual place.

Service With A Smile

Making the jobs of the secretaries, librarians and other school personnel run a little more smoothly are the various student aides. Office aides work during their study halls delivering messages for the counselors, the nurse, Mr. Syrone and Mr. Hall. They also assist with filing and other minor office jobs.

The library aides check students and books in and out, restack books and perform other clerical duties. This enables the librarian and her assistants time to help students find the right book and information they are looking for. Library aides work before and after school as well as during study halls.

Aiding with the moving of equipment and the taping of various educational programs are the IMC aides. They, too, work during study halls and sometimes into the evening.

The Key Club is the student equivalent of the Kiwanis. Both service organizations work to help the needy. Key Club's main social activities this year were a Halloween Dance and the Talent Show.

Tomorrow's Leaders

Student Council's goals this year included building school spirit and serving as a sounding board for student needs.

The group consists of one elected representative from each homeroom along with all four class officers from grades 8-12. These 58 are guided by five officers elected by the student body in the spring of the preceding school year. Campaigning follows that of the national election with an entire party submitting petitions and an assembly to introduce all candidates and their platforms.

Throughout the year Wednesdays or Thursdays were set aside as special spirit days. These included: Blue/Gold Day, Hat Day, 50's Day, Don Ho Day, and Dress Down day for faculty and students alike.

Student Council once again sponsored Christmas Week activities along with the traditional Super Stars competition between students and faculty.

Stop The Presses!

The 1983 yearbook is the 39th consecutive edition. Three teachers have served as the editorial advisor with Mrs. Ann Joy serving the longest term.

The first volume consisted of 42 pages held together by a ring binding. The annual contained the pictures of 25 seniors, the Girls' Reserve, the Garden Club and a class prophecy and will.

As the years went by, the yearbook reflected the progress of the school with more students, more faculty and more club pictures. As the school grew, so did the number of pages with the 1979 book containing 228 pages. Color first appeared in the 1962 book on divider pages while senior portraits appeared in color for the first time in 1979.

The Hurricane's Eye, formerly The Salute, was a mimeo paper until September of 1968 when the publication adopted the photo-offset process. Its 11x17 size was changed to an 8 1/2 x 11 news magazine format in 1977. Once published by a commercial print shop, the Eye is currently being type-set and printed by the Parma High School Vocational Printing classes.

Both publications received their current names in a school contest. The contest winner was killed in the Korean War. It is in his memory that both names remain unchanged.

All Alone At the Top

That epitaph appropriately describes petite Cheri DeLuca who last spring finished second overall and first in the balance beam at state gymnastic competition in Columbus. By so doing, Cheri became Brooklyn's first athlete to bring home a state championship in the history of the school.

Cheri's climb to the top began at age three with ballet and acrobatics class. At nine, she started training in gymnastics. By 10, Cheri had already begun to compete. Her first major competition was in Arizona at the age of 14 where she made it to the finals in floor exercise. Following a two-year absence from BHS to train in Dayton, Cheri returned to Brooklyn only to take a 1 ½ year break in training.

Fortunately for Brooklyn the 4' 11" athlete decided to return to gymnastics and represent her alma mater as a one-woman team. Traveling with her were her unofficial coaches, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Joy.

All Cheri's hard work paid off, not only for Brooklyn, but for herself as she was awarded a full scholarship to Oklahoma State.

Boys' Team Fires Away

The first year Brooklyn fielded a boys' baseball team was in 1959. That team, consisting of 18 members, finished in second place in the West Suburban League. The teams played in the summer into the early 70's when baseball became a spring sport. Since 1959 the various teams have compiled better than a .500 average in wins and losses.

Last year the diamondmen's mark of 6-4 placed them in a tie for third place with Cuyahoga Hts. Designated hitter Vince Mastri was named to the First Team All-Conference.

Mickey Hadick, Ken Vlk and Ed Kriausky were named to the Second Team while Mike McCormick and Jeff Kriausky received honorable mention honors. Hadick was also named to the Greater Cleveland West All Star Team. Jeff Kriausky was an honorable mention to the Plain Dealer Dream Team.

The JV squad compiled an 8 and 13 record winning six of their eight home games and four of the six league matches. The team's highest batting average was Fred Smith's .417.

Diamonds Are a Girl's Best Friend

Girls' softball originated in 1975 as a slow pitch game. In 1979 the girls won the Cuyahoga Conference title as a slow pitch team and were district runner-ups in fast pitch. By the 1980 season the girls had changed completely to fast pitch.

Last season the girls hurled their way to a 7-4 conference mark finishing third in the Inland Conference behind Keystone and Buckeye. Pitcher Cheryl Haschak, infielder Mel Vukmire and outfielder Paula Kirlough were named to the Second All-Conference Team. Receiving honorable mention honors were Donna Sullivan and Diane Wohlgemuth.

The second most recent interscholastic sport to be offered at Brooklyn is tennis. Initiated in 1976, the squads consisted primarily of boys. In 1979 the squad had its first female member, Judy Kordich.

Jay Fortlage's 10-5 record was the best in singles play for the Hurricanes in the 1982 spring sports season while Paul Seidowski (5-12) and Todd Jewett (4-10) finished with the best doubles records.

The varsity won six of 21 matches defeating Garfield Hts. Painesville Harvey, Maple Hts. twice, Richmond Hts. and Padua.

Run, Cindermen, Run!

Running and field events comprise a track meet. Running events include the one and two-mile relay team, the hurdles and other short distance sprints. The pole vault, discus, shot put, long and short jump are included in the field events.

Track began in 1957 with the 1958 squad winning both the county and district titles. Girls appeared on the team in the mid-70's.

Last spring the boys' team won one of eight single meets as they squeaked by Columbia Station by two points. The girls, however, won four of their nine single meets and placed third at the Inland Conference meet. Their best effort was a 71-39 victory over North Royalton. Senior Deanna Broz became the first female track member to qualify for state competition.

The 8th grade boys' team failed to win a meet while the girls savored one victory out of five meets.

A Dressed-Up Affair

The Junior-Senior Dance has been a tradition at Brooklyn since the school's founding. Originally held in the gym, themes and decorations for the formal affair have included "A Tropical Paradise," "Evening in the Orient," and "When in Rome . . ."

In the early 60's it became fashionable to hold the annual dance in a downtown hotel. In 1975 the dance was moved to the newly-renovated Wagner's Country Inn in Westlake where it continued until last spring.

Over 200 students and faculty members cut their travel distance considerably as they dined at the Marriott Inn at West 150th. Pictures of couples were taken outside for the first time in the hotel's beautiful gardens. The room itself was bigger providing more dance space.

Ron Skrzypek and Lynn Miller get away from it all in the gardens of the Marriott Inn.

A Golden Tradition

Fifty years ago Brooklyn Village Schools graduated its first students: Josephine Bajorek, Lottie Jablonski, Eleanor How, and Geneva McManes. Gradually the school grew as did the size of the graduating classes. The largest group to date was the Class of 1974 with 232 graduates. Baccalaureate, a non-denominational service usually held the Sunday before graduation, was a part of commencement activities through 1975.

A valedictorian and salutatorian, the top two students in each class, traditionally delivered the commencement address. Honor students, sometimes numbering as high as five, replaced the valedictorian and salutatorian in addressing his/her fellow graduates with the Class of 1973. Speeches took on a different aspect in 1972 and 1973 with a color slide presentation. The latest change to this golden tradition was the site for the ceremony. Previously held in the high school auditoriums, this year's seniors will be the 8th group to hold the exercises at the Brooklyn City Rec Hall built in 1975.

On June 5, 1983, 182 graduates will join a total of 4500 students who have left Brooklyn High School better prepared to meet the challenges of an ever-changing world.

50 Years Later

Class of '83 — how impressive that sounds! We are seniors at last! Senior pictures, Homecoming, the Formal, Prom and still to come — graduation! Studies, SAT, ACT, college applications and job interviews have filled our many hours together. It's been a busy but fun-filled year, one we'll never forget.

Thanks, BHS, for the memories.

See You in Six Months!

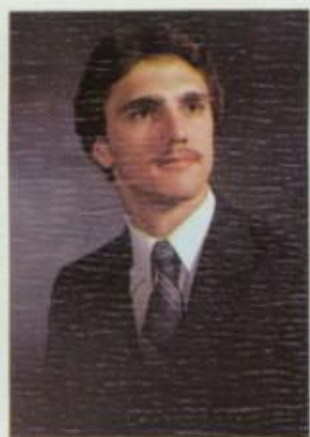

So promise senior class officers Denise Bessick (treasurer), Barb Brewer (secretary), Donna Ratliff (vice-president) and Lisa Carrara (president) when asked when they planned to hold the first reunion for their classmates. Of the four coeds, two have previously served their class in previous years. Barb was elected vice-president as a sophomore while Denise has served as class treasurer since her freshman year.

What will these class leaders be doing at that first reunion? Lisa will be studying to be a nurse. Donna and Barb will both be working their way through college as licensed cosmetologists while Denise will be working on a degree from a local business school.

The mighty foursome of Bessick, Brewer, Ratliff and Carrara.

Alma Mater

In joy and strife thy praise we sing
To every memory we cling
The joyous cheers,
the parting tear,
These our hearts hold dear.
Down through the years our guiding beam
Will fill our hearts with radiant gleam
Oh, Brooklyn
loyalty we pledge
To honor blue and gold.

In the Beginning . . .

Mario Canevese prepares to break while classmates Lisa Neville, Joe Khadige, Chris Buttram, and anticipatory Vic Dolbin and Theresa Mayhew watch.

Originally located in the open area outside the cafeteria, the current senior lounge served as a study hall for 7th and 8th graders. Vacant for several years, 103 became the official room for prospective graduates in the fall of 1979 thanks to principal Mr. William Hall. Little by little money designated by graduating classes was used to fill the room with leisure-time activities.

The end of our high school days — a time that so many of us have looked forward to with anticipation. With the end we start new beginnings, — college, a new job, and for some the responsibilities of marriage.

Taking on the responsibilities of this yearbook has been a learning experience for me. There were many things that were new and had to be accomplished. At first I was nervous about the end result, but with a helpful advisor and a cheery staff — nothing could go wrong!

I would like to thank Mrs. Sposet for trusting me with this yearbook and for always being there to give helpful advice. A big thank you to Mrs. Joy for solving our money problems and most of all for her moral support. Thank you Monica and Lisa for all the time spent handling book sales and the ads. Stephanie and Dena — you did a great job selling ads and keeping the student index in order. Thanks, Barb, for doing a terrific job typing the senior index and also for keeping me in good spirits along with Edith and Glenda.

My sincere gratitude goes out to Denison Studios for being so helpful and prompt. To our photographers Keith, Ed, Darren and Jim — you did a great job and I truly appreciate it. I can't forget Carol Kentis and Jim Reeves for pitching in and giving a helping hand when it was needed. Additional recognition goes out to the 1983 yearbook staff — I couldn't have done it without you. An added thanks to my family for putting up with me during these past 8 months and to Al for always understanding.

I wish the best of luck to the Class of '83 in all their future endeavors and remember, as the best, never settle for anything but the best.

Volume 39 of the Eaglet, the Brooklyn
High School yearbook, was printed by Walsworth Publishing Company in Marceline, Mo., using the offset lithography process.

Paper stock is 70 pound Regency.
Endsheet stock is #306 Blue
Granite. The staff designed cover was done in a gold patina with black overprint and silkscreening.
Three quarters of the cover is sand-grained. The typeface used is 10 pt. and 8 pt. Helvetica.

Underclass photos were taken by Ohio School Pictures. Color Senior portraits, Homecoming and musical portraits were taken by Denison Studios. About 1000 black and white candids were shot for the 1983 Eaglet by student staff photographers.
